New temporary part-time nurse manager in Central Miramichi and Boiestown

Jennifer Curtis has accepted the role of temporary part-time nurse manager in Horizon's Central Miramichi Community Health Centre, in Doaktown, and Boiestown Health Centre. She will work with Lorri Amos, who is currently the permanent nurse manager on a part-time basis to co-lead these health centres.

Jennifer has a Bachelor of Arts, a Bachelor of Nursing, and a Masters in Nursing, which she completed in 2014. She worked for 15 years in various medical and surgical positions at the Horizon's Miramichi Regional Hospital, including rehabilitation and geriatrics, as well as addictions and mental health.

Most recently, Jennifer has been the interim clinical nurse specialist with the surgical program at Horizon's Dr. Everett Chalmers Regional Hospital. This leadership role has given her many opportunities, including participation on many committees, chairing projects and doing research and education for the surgical program.

Jennifer begins with the Primary Health Care Program on March 8. Welcome to the team, Jennifer!

New patient representative appointed for the Moncton area

Michelle Nowlan has accepted the role of patient representative for the Moncton area. She begins in this role Jan. 25, where she can be reached at the Patient Representative Office at Horizon's The Moncton Hospital.

Michelle has a bachelor's degree in social work and a certificate in tribunal administrative justice.

Throughout her career she has attained competencies in advocating for patient's rights, collaborating with interdisciplinary teams, client counselling / crisis intervention, and program management. She served on the board of directors of the New Brunswick Association of Social Workers (NBASW) and is currently a member of the discipline committee of the NBASW.

Michelle has gained great knowledge and experience in her previous role, where she spent 11 years as a psychiatric patient advocate with the Department of Health. The competencies she has achieved throughout her career will compliment her new position here at Horizon.
